

Are high utility bills bankrupting you?
Do you feel a conflict between Heat or Eat?

Come to a free DOERS Energy Fair, and get the tools you need to reduce your energy bills!

Sat., Feb. 15, 2003, 1 to 3 p.m.

An illustrated talk by Jon Foley, Director of SAGE, the Center for Sustainability and Global Environment, at the UW Madison, will look at ways we can conserve energy, to help both our own budgets, and the global climate.

Orchard Ridge United Church of Christ
1501 Gilbert Rd.
Madison

You'll find out about ways that you can cut down on your utility bills, about a program that can pay up to half the cost of energy-saving renovations, and you'll have a free chance at winning a home energy audit worth $300+, a torchiere lamp worth $60, or a package of compact fluorescent light bulbs!

You can test drive a Honda Hybrid car, buy compact florescent light bulbs that use $\frac{1}{4}$ the energy of regular bulbs, and talk to inspectors and contractors who make energy efficiency their business.

Complementary tea and baklava will be served following the talk and the action component of the program.

DOERS, PO Box 259525, Madison, WI 53725-9525
(608) 251-6892 (during normal business hours)

<http://doerswi.homestead.com> doers@terracon.net

Please contact us if you would like to help organize or publicize this important event!